REGISTRATION FORM

Invite you to four stimulating days of creating, thinking, reflecting, artcaching, journaling and photography

WHERE: at NCMA's galleries, outdoor sculpture garden, and its 145 acres of ponds, fields, and woods

WHEN: Monday June 29 - Thursday July 2, 2009, 9:00 am - 3:00 pm.

Join us for an experience that will provide you with a new look at our world. As you develop your observational skills, you will work with colleagues to make interdisciplinary connections for the classroom to bring this awareness to your students.

Afternoon sessions will be hands-on workshops conducted by guest artists:

Brian Heinz, Vivian Swift, and Pablo Corradi

GET INSPIRED TO INSPIRE!

EXPERIENCE a summer journey that will excite and energize you

CONNECT with museum and environmental educators, guest artists, k-12 teachers and administrators in a four day journey of personal and professional growth

EXPLORE the connections between observation, art and nature, creative, critical, and independent thinking

DEVELOP a deeper understanding of Habits of Mind (HOM) and examine the thinking processes honed within an art museum and the outdoors

DISCOVER how informal learning environments such as museums and the outdoors can help you reframe the way you teach

DISCUSS 21st century skills and possible classroom practices that will help students thrive in the new century

REFLECT on the experience and look for ways to TRANSFER what you have learned and how you learned it to your teaching practice
